PROJECTS

Multimodal Models for Depression Screening Tool: Transfer learning

2021

We leverage state-of-the-art transfer learning models for depression screening using as input the recorded audio, text transcript, and images of patient interview.

Missing Values in Multivariate Time Series
Tool: Deep Learning

2019

We apply deep learning models to impute missing values and classify multivariate time series, using some modify Recurrent Neural Network. The application of these techniques is in Healthcare.

An Alternative Housing Price Index for Chile
Tool: Web Scraping

2017

We use the Web Scraping technique to collect data from real estate website. Then, we compute a new index that is useful as a contrast index.

Urban Land Value Estimation for Chile
Tool: Machine Learning

2017

We developed a methodology to estimate the national value of a property separated by construction and land. This result will improve the Chilean household statistics.
